Students Out Fifty Classes

LOS ANGELES, April 15 (AP)—Fifty students were suspended from classes at the University of California at Los Angeles, but the number on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles today was normal.

Leaders of the student strike movement declared that 1,500 students had left classes, but registrars reported that only 500 were absent.

Classes resumed this morning with the faculty marked out of their classes to attend a mass rally. Many of the students and members of the faculty attended the rally, which was held in the auditorium.

LYNNA, Mass., April 15—George E. Moulton, 15-year old farmer, has recommended to the Massachusetts Legislature that the state pay a bounty of $1 for every 100 woodchucks. The very-young farmer says that the animals destroy 30 colds. It was kept until the 15th of April, when the state's bounty ceases.

George's letter and in turn by the state legislature was referred to the committee on agriculture. There it came to the attention of George, who telephoned the supply house and ordered a new trap to be sent to him at once.

Lightship Nantucket Returns to Shoals

After Repairs Made at New Bedford

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 15 (AP)—The lightship Nantucket, driven from her station on Nantucket shoals by Tuesday's gales, returned to her station at 4 p.m. today.

The vessel reported that the gales were the worst experienced in many years. Her crew said that they looked upon their return to the shoals as a welcome relief.

The Nantucket was driven from her station on March 15 by a heavy gale. She dragged her anchor and was blown 30 miles off her station. Her crew was forced to remain on board for 30 days.

The Massachusetts Senate today voted, 25 to 5, to kill the literacy test for voters. The test would have required all persons registering for the first time to read and write English.

The bill was opposed by Senator Bowker of Boston, who said that the test was a civic influence. The bill was passed by the House.

A bulletin explaining the students' point of view was issued by the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, which is sponsoring the demonstration.

Reports from Harvard indicated that two colleges in Boston.

It part it asserted:

"No matter how large an army a nation may have, it cannot defy public opinion, which forces an army to disband, thinks war only when governments are ready to go to war. Governments are only 'states,' but the people are 'nations.' Internationalism is only a theory as it does not exist in fact. Governments are ready to go to war. Governments are only 'states,' but the people are 'nations.' Internationalism is only a theory as it does not exist in fact.

"Only in this way can we unite the people of the world against war."

The pledge reads:

"I am determined that I will not support any war which may be declared by the Government of the United States in which I am a citizen, unless the question has been submitted to the people in a referendum vote and they have voted to support such war."

The bulletin carried the signatures of the following:

Norman Thomas, speaking at a meeting in Boston, said that the best way to prove that the United States does not intend to enter the Pacific war is to withdraw the fleet from the Pacific.

"We must withdraw the fleet from the Pacific," he said. "It is the only way to prove that we do not intend to enter the war."

Mr. Thomas said that the United States should withdraw its fleet from the Pacific and that the fleet should be withdrawn to the Atlantic.

Mexican Worker Strike

MEXICO, D. F., April 13 (¶)—Unionized workers in the Mexican electrical industry struck for higher wages and shorter hours today, paralyzing all but a few essential services in the capital.

The walkout, which was called by the Mexican Federation of Electrical Workers, affected at one minute past midnight, was called in sympathy with striking power and light workers of Tampico.

Mooney Knows Legal Fight

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., April 13 (¶)—Almost within sight of San Quentin Prison in which he has spent almost 18 years, Thomas J. Mooney received another setback in his fight for a new trial today when Superior Judge Charles S. Peery denied a motion for a writ of habeas corpus.

Mooney, convicted and sentenced for life for the 1916 preparedness parade bombing, has been in San Francisco county jail since his return from Oregon, where he was arrested after fleeing from San Quentin prison on Jan. 27, 1931.

Peery's decision was the first of a series of legal moves which Mooney's attorneys have promised to make in an attempt to free Mooney, who has been in prison since 1916.

Mooney's attorneys have charged that he was convicted on perjured testimony.

The Home Forum

A Hole in the Twentieth Century

THIS alley is but one among hundreds of others. Once they were the centers of an intensely active and localized life, like the ancient Greek agora, or the Roman forum. Now they are the dumping-ground for all the refuse of a vast city. Here, in the alleys behind the stores, are the receptacles for the ashes and garbage of the tenements. Here are the receptacles for the waste from the stores. Here are the receptacles for the refuse from the factories. Here are the receptacles for the rubbish from the houses. Here are the receptacles for the sweepings from the streets. Here are the receptacles for the dirt from the cellars. Here are the receptacles for the filth from the stables. Here are the receptacles for the offal from the markets. Here are the receptacles for the debris from the demolished buildings. Here are the receptacles for the sewage from the overflowing cesspools. Here are the receptacles for the unspeakable contents of the pails from the bedrooms. Here are the receptacles for the nauseous leavings from the restaurants. Here are the receptacles for the foul exudations from the hospitals. Here are the receptacles for the infected bandages from the dispensaries. Here are the receptacles for the sodden packages from the abortionists. Here are the receptacles for the dead cats, the dead dogs, the dead rats, the dead babies. Here are the receptacles for the hideous refuse of a million lives.

Here, in the alleys behind the stores, are the receptacles for the material which is the result of the toil of the workers in the factories, the workers in the mines, the workers in the fields, the workers in the mills, the workers in the shops, the workers in the offices, the workers in the banks, the workers in the warehouses, the workers in the markets, the workers in the docks, the workers in the railroad yards, the workers in the subways, the workers in the elevated railroads, the workers in the surface railroads, the workers in the motor-trucks, the workers in the motor-busses, the workers in the motor-cars, the workers in the motor-cycles, the workers in the bicycles, the workers in the pushcarts, the workers in the wagons, the workers in the automobiles, the workers in the airplanes, the workers in the ships, the workers in the boats, the workers in the trains

PERSONALITY, I have always heretofore the least to the "eyonity" for myself a personality that is the reason why Old Dutch is more economical, more convenient and more satisfactory to use than anything else you can buy.

There's nothing else like Old Dutch because it is the only cleanser made with Seismotite—a scratchless cleaning and polishing material that is scientifically processed and combined with other valuable ingredients.

Old Dutch costs less to use because it goes further and protects surfaces with scratchless cleaning . . . saves time and work because it cleans quicker and polishes as it cleans. It's kind to the hands, leaves no filthy sediment and doesn't clog drains.

Be sure and savings! Use only Old Dutch for cleaning any household surface not harmed by water.

2 MIN 2

Write a limerick about Old Dutch on the back of an Old Dutch Cleanser label and send it to us. We will pay $5.00 in cash for each limerick which we publish and the application will include the writer's name and address. All limericks become the property of The Cudahy Packing Company and none will be returned.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Dept. L-232, 333 N. La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Housewife just notes on Dutch Cleanser

For the marvelous help that it lends her.

Without effort, it scrubs

Kettles, sinks, floors, and tubs!

More than all other aids, it pertinents her.

Sheets and pillow cases

Pequot Mills, Salem, Mass.

Those few hermits who find the American's most hopeful species! Almonds trim delightful contrast of color and texture.

Those few hermits who find the loneliest when two or more are gathered together. Pequot sheets and pillow cases are available in all sizes from 2 to 4 yards wide.

Pequot comfort costs less than a single phone call!

• When you write it out, Pequot spells cost no more than 3½c per bed per week. That's a conservative estimate, based on a Pequot sheet 81 x 108 inches, and allowing for only 2 years' wear. With proper laundering and usage you can get more than 2 years' wear from Pequot sheets.

It is to the Orient that we are indebted for our most dramatic fashions. How it happened that one whole season's crop of frocks and hats and coats and suits and wraps and even shoes and stockings should be Oriental in inspiration, is a matter of history—except that it is a history no one has ever written. Perhaps it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient, and the two are so much alike that we don't know the difference. Perhaps it is because the Orient is the cradle of civilization and the East is the cradle of the human race. Perhaps it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence. Perhaps it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence. Perhaps it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence.

Whatever the reason, there is no question about the fact that the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient. Whether it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence, or because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence, the fact remains that the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient. Whether it is because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence, or because the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient that we are so receptive to its influence, the fact remains that the Orient is the East and the East is the Orient.

More on Inflation

The Two Worlds Business

Some time ago I suggested that inflation was a perfectly normal thing to look for when a war began, then a period of deflation, and finally a return to a normal condition. It seems to me that we are now in the deflation period, and that we may expect to see it continue for some time to come.

The following is a letter from a correspondent in Boston, who writes:

"I have been reading your articles on inflation with great interest, and I am wondering if you could tell me what you think of the present situation. It seems to me that we are in the deflation period, and that we may expect to see it continue for some time to come. I would like to know what you think of the present situation."

I am glad to have your letter, and I will try to answer your questions. I think that we are in the deflation period, and that we may expect to see it continue for some time to come. I would like to know what you think of the present situation.

Cardinals And Giants Favored As Race Nears

National League Season Opens Next Tuesday in Four Cities

On Tuesday next, with the necessary fair weather to insure a good start, baseball will be ushered in for the season of 1932 in the National League. Eight cities will entertain the baseball fans of the country on that day, and the Cardinals, as champions, have been made favorites by a majority of the experts. But close competition is looked for in the final week of the season.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs do not appear strong enough, on paper, to challenge the top favorites.

Babe Ruth in Spotlight

As the season draws near, baseball fans are looking forward with interest to the appearance of two interesting figures in baseball—Babe Ruth, the idol of the baseball fans, and Lou Gehrig, the "Iron Horse" of baseball. Ruth, who has been a holdout for a contract calling for $80,000 for three years, finally signed on the dotted line for $70,000 for two years. Gehrig, who has been a holdout for $25,000, finally signed for $23,000.

Ruth, who is now 37 years old, has been a sensation ever since he broke into baseball as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox. He was sold to the Yankees in 1920 for $125,000 and since then has broken all batting records. He has hit 60 home runs in a season, and has batted .393 in a season. He has led the league in home runs 11 times, in runs batted in 6 times, and in batting average 3 times. He has played in 10 world series games, batting .326 in 41 games. He has hit 29 home runs in world series competition, which is a record. He has batted in 82 runs in world series competition, which is a record. Carpenter Depends on Deans

The Cardinals, under the leadership of Manager Gabby Street, have been strengthened by the addition of Paul Dean, brother of Dizzy Dean, who was purchased from the Houston club of the Texas League. Paul Dean is a 20-game winner, and with Dizzy Dean and Wild Bill Hallahan, the Cardinals have a strong pitching staff. The Cardinals are also strong in the infield, with Frankie Frisch, manager, and Charley Gelbert, at second base; Leo Durocher, shortstop, and Jimmy Collins, veteran third baseman. Sparky Adams, Jim Bottomley, Chick Hafey and Pepper Martin will perform in the outfield.

Pepper Martin, who batted .300 in 1931, is expected to be the leading hitter of the Cardinals. He is a fast outfielder, and is also a dependable third baseman. Ripper Collins, who batted .349 in 1931, is expected to be the leading hitter of the Cardinals. He is a fast outfielder, and is also a dependable third baseman. Giants Have Bartell

The other important player-manager in the National League is Bill Terry of the Giants. The addition of Bartell, a first baseman, to the Giants will strengthen the infield. Bartell is a fast baserunner, and a dependable fielder. He batted .300 in 1931. Terry, Bartell, Blondy Ryan, Mel Ott, Hughie Critz, Travis Jackson will be the infield of the Giants. Terry, Jackson will be first baseman, Bartell at second, Ryan at shortstop, Critz at third. Ott will be in the outfield with Fred Lindstrom and Jo-Jo Moore. Lindstrom is a dependable third baseman, batting .300 in 1931. Moore batted .300 in 1931. Ott batted .300 in 1931. Lindstrom batted

City Savings Bank

ALBANY, N. Y.

WRITES:

"We mention with pleasure that the Personal Service Department of the City Savings Bank has been of great assistance to many of our depositors who have moved to other cities. Many have written us from their new homes expressing appreciation of the help we have been able to give them in finding satisfactory banking connections."

Two blizzards, each accompanied by high winds, swept the Northwest with terrific force on the same day, March 11, 1932. Communication was paralyzed, railroad trains were stalled in huge drifts of snow, and highways were impassable. Many persons were marooned in their homes for days.

Through all this disturbance, the City Savings Bank of Albany, N. Y., was able to render prompt and efficient service to its depositors in Minneapolis, Minn., and Fargo, N. D., by means of telegraphic transfers of funds.

The City Savings Bank of Albany, N. Y., is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Text of Address Delivered by Secretary Mellon Before Chamber of Commerce

Following is the text of the address delivered by Secretary Mellon before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Washington, April 12:

I am glad to have the opportunity to discuss with you the present situation and the remedies which are being proposed for relief.

The world-wide depression which began in 1929 has now lasted for more than two years. It has been severe in its effects upon the United States, but in other countries it has been even more severe. Many countries have suffered from currency collapse, which we have escaped. Our losses have been principally in the value of our exports and in the shrinkage of values of our investments and our real estate. Our banking system has withstood the shock, and, while there have been many bank failures, the losses to depositors have been relatively small.

Our unemployment has been severe, but it is probably less severe than in most other countries. Our industrial plants have been closed down or operated on part time, but they have not been destroyed, and they are ready to resume operations as soon as business revives.

Our losses have been great, but they are not irreparable. We have the resources, the industrial organization, the technical skill and the experience to recover rapidly from the depression. Our recovery will be hastened if we can avoid the mistakes which have been made in other countries.

Causes of Depression

The causes of the depression are many and complex. Some of them are world-wide, and others are peculiar to the United States. Among the world-wide causes are the War and the inflation of currencies which followed the War. Another cause was the artificial stimulation of business by the extension of bank credit in the United States and elsewhere in the years 1927 and 1928. This led to speculation in stocks and real estate and to the diversion of capital into unsound investments. Another cause was the increase in the production of raw materials, which led to a fall in their prices. Another cause was the increase in the production of manufactured goods, which led to overproduction in many lines.

Some of these causes have been in operation for many years, but they culminated in the collapse of 1929. Since then they have been accentuated by the fear and uncertainty which have resulted from the collapse.

Remedies Proposed

Many remedies have been proposed. Some of them are unsound and would only make matters worse. Others are sound and would help to restore confidence and to relieve the depression.

Among the unsound remedies are those which would increase the amount of money in circulation by issuing fiat currency or by depreciating the gold dollar. Those who propose such remedies overlook the fact that the depression is not due to a shortage of money. Our money is sound, and it is adequate in amount. Our difficulties arise from the fact that it is frozen in the banks and cannot be used.

Another unsound remedy is that which proposes to relieve the depression by reducing wages. Wages have already been reduced in many industries, and further reductions would only aggravate the situation. Reductions in wages would reduce the purchasing power of the people and would thus intensify the depression.

Another unsound remedy is that which proposes to relieve the depression by reducing the rate of interest. The rate of interest is now low, and it is not the rate of interest which is preventing business men from borrowing money and engaging in business.

Among the sound remedies which have been proposed are those which would relieve the banks of their frozen assets and enable them to extend credit to their customers. Such relief has been afforded by the Federal Reserve banks, by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, by the Federal Home Loan Bank System, and by the National Credit Corporation. Further relief has been afforded by the Glass-Steagall bill, which has just been passed by the Congress and which has been approved by the President.

Another sound remedy is that which proposes to relieve the railroads of their burden of fixed charges by reducing the rates of interest which they pay on their bonds. This is the purpose of the bill introduced by Senator Wagner, which has been approved by the President and which is now before the Congress.
